

“The Centre staff provided therapy in my early years and encouraged me to develop my skills as an athlete. When I walked through the doors I was never made to feel like I had a disability; it was never a focus.”

Derek Whitson
2010 Canadian Paralympian, Sledge Hockey

Children with physical disabilities deserve and require the wellness benefits of regular physical activity as much as all children, but they have great difficulty participating in mainstream organized sports programs. That’s why the Children’s Treatment Centre Foundation of Chatham-Kent is launching a $100,000 campaign to ensure the Centre can provide adapted sports programs for several years to come.

Please help us keep ALL Chatham-Kent’s children active and healthy!
